CLINICAL EXPERIENCE

Caspian
University

In-Person

In-person rotations include medical electives, observerships, clerkships, externships, and shadowing experiences. They provide medical students, graduates, and trainees with the opportunity to experience Kazakhstan's healthcare system from a precepting physician or hospital department.

Virtual Rotations

Virtual rotations provide trainees with clinical experience from a telehealth approach. Like in-person experiences, virtual rotations give trainees experience in Kazakhstan's healthcare system but rely on audio and video streaming technology to connect visitors with precepting physicians, their patients, and other medical trainees.

Pre-Med Shadowing

Pre-med shadowing experiences are for Kazakhstan's undergraduate students. Although these experiences are strictly shadowing, like a college internship, they provide trainees with real-world experience. Trainees have the potential to earn letters of evaluation to help them stand out on med school applications.
